General Housekeeping

The students have been taking their final round of iReady testing this week in both reading and math. I will be sending copies home of their iReady progress over the course of the entire year sometime next week.

An important note regarding our other social studies project will be coming home tomorrow. Please be on the lookout for this, as work will need to be done at home.

Money for Fun Run Fundraising was due today. If your child still has money raised at home, please send that with your child asap. Thank you! Our class will be ready to run next Wednesday, May 15th!

Reader's Workshop

We began a new module this week that focuses on Telling a Tale! Students will be reading some plays, fairy tales, folklore over the next few weeks and honing their skills at determining the author's craft (word choice) and examining figurative language within a text. The students have really been enjoying their chapter books and holding literature discussions with their peers.

Math

Students are wrapping up their practice with multi-step story problems and review of area. They took their final unit for math later this week, beginning with telling time and solving word problems related to time.

Writing/ Grammar

The students will begin researching a country for their country presentation posters this week! We are using a variety of sources to get information about our chosen countries!

In grammar this week, students are learning about prepositions! Janice walked past the candy store.

Social Studies

Students have learned more about supply and demand this week as they begin planning for our classroom city! We will also be voting on our class city name and flag design!

Science

Students began a new unit this week that focuses on heredity, traits, and survival. Students are learning more about how farmers can create the biggest fruit!

Happy Birthday!

We will celebrate Easton's birthday on Friday, as his birthday is May 11th and Jay's birthday on Monday, May 13th. Happy Birthday to Easton and Jay!

Upcoming Events

- Fun Run: Wednesday, May 15th

Reminders

Country Posters are Due Tuesday, May 28th. Students may bring their completed posters to school to glue their report on if he/she chooses.
